Natural Rock Salt Lamps

Salt - The Unique Crystal

We cannot survive without either water or salt. Salt is just as essential for the body as water is. Salt is one of the most important and oldest compounds being used by man since the ages. Its diverse use stems out of its wide practical value. From kitchen to living room salt is used in different forms.

Natural crystal salt has been exposed to enormous pressure inside the earth, which caused its special formation. The higher the pressure, the more perfect the crystalline structure becomes with its natural energy.

Salt Crystal Lamp

Crystal Salt lamps are made from salt crystal formed by nature over hundreds of millions of years ago, and mined 800 meters underground in salt mines. Each uniquely shaped Crystal Salt Lamp is carefully hand carved, washed with water and dried in sun to retain the natural shape and crystal structure of the crystal salt.

The lamps are lit from within by candles or electric lights causing them to glow with the natural orange color of salt giving an attractive addition to any room environment. Also refreshes the air with negative ions, and may help create a balanced, healthier environment. The Crystal Salt we promote comes from an enormous salt range north of Pakistan, inside the Himalayan Mountains. It is 100% pure and the most beneficial salt available.

Disclaimer

Salt crystals are known to possess healing qualities. Please read the facts in the following text in order to learn more. In presenting these facts we have tried to create awareness with the anticipation that the consumers shall make their own independent assessment about the healing qualities of Salt Crystals. In no manner whatsoever, have we agreed or disagreed with the content of the text. Neither do we make any specific claims in order to prove or disprove this healing theory.

Our fundamental aim is to give an unbiased, honest and comprehensive view of the information that is available in this sphere.

We do confirm that Salt Crystals (especially when lit) emit negative ions. The quantity of this negative ionic emission is, however, a matter of debate at this point. In depth analysis and studies are needed in order to substantiate any claims. We shall endeavor to keep you posted on any progress in this respect. These products are not intended to cure, heal, or prevent diseases.

Difference between Crystal, Rock, Sea and Table Salt

Crystal Salt: Crystal salt is more than sodium and chloride. Natural crystal salt contains all the elements of which the human body is comprised. Crystal salt in its original form is: holistic, wholesome, unaltered, natural salt as it has crystallized in the Earth over millions of years. Crystal Salt contains 84 of The Nutritional Elements we need.

Rock Salt:: The elements in rock salt are not integrated into the salt's crystal grid, but cling to the outside surface and crevices of the crystalline structure. This is the fundamental difference between rock salt and crystal salt. A salt crystal manifests a superior structure.

Sea Salt:: Has the irregular shapes and separated crystalline structure which is no longer connected to the natural elements, since we have polluted the oceans.

Table Salt: Has been processed and all the natural minerals have been removed except sodium and chloride. The crystals are dead and are of not much use for the body

Health Benefits:

Salt Rock Crystal Lamps create an environment rich in negative ions that have a wonderfully positive effect on your physical, emotional, mental, and even spiritual health.

People are becoming increasingly concerned about the poor quality of air that they breathe within office buildings, motor vehicles, and even their own homes. In fact, the EPA notes that levels of air pollutants indoors are typically many times that of outside air, even in smoggy cities. Not only are we exposed to toxic fumes produced by synthetic carpets and paints, but a sizable portion of the air molecules are positively charged (meaning that they lack an electron). These so-called "positive ions" take a great toll on our health and have been shown to cause stress, headaches, lethargy, and temporary depression.

Their chemical opposites -- termed "negative ions" -- neutralize positive ions, and thus help to clean the air and reduce those health problems. Moreover, frequent exposure to the negative ions can dramatically increase an individual's energy, mental alertness, and overall sense of well-being. For many years, people suffering from asthma and other symptoms have gained tremendous relief from underground asthma treatment Speleo therapy, in salt mines, where negative ions are plentiful.

The most convenient and environmentally friendly way to add these healthy ions to your own environment is to use our natural salt rock lamps which generate even more negative ions as a result of the light and heat exposure. Not only do people find the light of natural salt crystal lamps to be quite soothing, but the negative ions given off by the lamps are the same wonderful ions we smell in the air after a thunderstorm. These ions have a refreshing and energizing effect, helping to purify the air and thereby benefit the people and pets breathing that air.

Natural Salt Lamps are being used worldwide in holistic spas and medical treatment centers. The most common types of disorders treated are breathing problems, such as asthma, emphysema, bronchitis, and various allergies.

Our Natural Salt crystal Lamps & salt rock candle holders are mined in an ecologically responsible manner, and crafted by dedicated artisans into attractive and safe lamps that can be used indefinitely. Our lamps have been tested and verified to release ions, even when not lit. They produce the same wonderful ions that we feel after a thunderstorm and when standing close to a natural waterfall. Even though the crystal salts and ions themselves are odorless, people can really feel the difference breathing the energized air.

How Salt Crystal Works...

Salt is a primal element, like water and air and its natural minerals and trace element have unique biophysical and biochemical characteristics. Salt is to be regarded as neutral, chemically as well as physically, without its own polarity, always balancing and neutralizing. The emission of ionization is primarily caused by the alternating actions of the salt's ability to first absorb water, and then evaporate it. To explain this more precisely, the heated salt crystal attracts the water molecules from the ambient air to its surface. The salt goes into a solution as it mixes with the water molecules. Sodium, as the positively charged ion, and chloride, as a negatively charged ion, becomes neutral and are emitted back into the environment. The uniqueness of this ion emission interrelation is only possible with the mineral salt, since salt possesses this transformation ability with water due to its electrically neutral atomic structure. Depending upon size and surface area of the salt crystal used for the lamp, the ambient air surrounding it is measurably cleaned by the transformation cycle of hydrogen and oxygen, as well as sodium and chloride ions.

Where can I use a natural salt crystal lamp and rock salt candle holder?

Can be used in your whole house and work environment safety Great for smoky areas, pet areas, bedrooms, around computers, TVs and electrical equipment to counteract the positive (unhealthy ions) given off, great against pollen, mold. Yoga centers, spas and massage centers love our lamps and candle holders in their treatment rooms for beautiful light and energy.

What's the difference in Salt rock crystal Lamps available?

There is a difference in quality & integrity. Our manufacturer daily process tons of salt of which only 10% are shipped to us as high quality crystal salt lamps and products. They are certified by the Natural Resources Government in Pakistan that insures that no child labor is used and employees are paid a living wage.
